EXTRACTS FROM MR. HANDCOCK'S REPORTS.

"The machinery site purchased by ma is now in the centre of the Gold-field, and within three miles of the most distant part of it. Several reeds are olose at hand, and the ground looks very well. From geological reasons, I think this will turn out the best part of the Gold-field."

"The site is at the junction of Long Gully, and Spring Creek, thereby obtaining with their tributaries, the watershed of two out of the only three main creeks on Bungonis."

"The site is the best on the Gold-field for the following reasons, it.:—It takes the drainage of two out of the three Creeks I have mentioned, and new reefs are now opened up to it; several of the lately discovered auriforous reefs are within a short distance, and it occupies the most central pestion on the field.

"By the 27th Section of the Gold-Field' Regulations, I find that priority of right to water in determined by priority of registration. No machinery right on Long Gully has been registered, previous to ours. We are entitled under our two water privileges to four ground sluice hoads, which by the 25th section is equivalent to a stream of water having a sectional area eight feat wide by one inch deep, and delivering airce water than we are entitled to. There is no the supply of water than we are entitled to. There is no registered water right previous to ours, therefore our possession of the water rights practically abute up Long Gully and its tributaries completely.

"We passess also a special right to construct a dam which would impound water both from Spring Creek and Long Gully and tes tributaries completely.

"We passess also a special right to construct a dam which would impound water both from Spring Creek and Long Gully and tes tributaries completely.

"The natural features are admirably adapted for an impounding reservoir, and the guantity of water impounded would be regulated solely by the height of water impounded would be regulated inno.

"The bed of the gully is rock, and the part which I should not see an impounding reserveir appears to me to be sound and retentive; and one of the chiaf advantages of our nice over all other is, that we can impound sufficient water to work I we manufacture that is the standard."

This Company has been formed for the purpose of working the autrerous drifts at Two-mile Flat, known as Wialdra or Diamond Creek, in the district of Madges, for diamonds and other preclous streams, and gold. The fame already attained by these localities renders a description of their gold and diamond producing qualities unnecessary.

The existence of preclous stones in this locality has been known to the properietors for a long time, and the choicest claims from whence diamonds have been obtained here been secured by them. Several rich geme are now in their possession (as per annexed certificate) found on the diamond, with no better appliance than a tin dish. There are also rich and extensive deposits of gold-bearing connect steps of producing of gold-bearing connect steps of the property, and it is computed the yield from that alone will be sufficient to pay nearly all expenses.

TAYLOR BROTHERS,
Lendon.

The Cocoa (or Cacae) of Maravilla is the true Theobroma of Linnsens. Cocoaris indigenous to South America, of which Maravilla is a favoured portion. Taylor, Brothers, having secured the exclusive supply of this univalled cocoa, have, by the skilful application of their soluble principle and elaborate machinery, preduced what is not only secured the preference of homeopaths and cocaarinkers generally, but meny, who had hitherto net found any preparation to suit them, have, after one trial, adopted the Maravilla Cocoa as their constant beverage for breakfast, lunchoon, &c.

"A SUCCESS UNPERCEDENTED."

See following Extract from the Globs of May 14, 1865.
"Various importers and manufacturers have attempted to attain a reputation for their preparad Cocoae, but we doubt whether say therough success had been achieved until Mesara. Taylor, Brothert discoursed the extraordinary qualities of Maravilla Cocoa. Adapting their perfect system of preparation to this finest of all species of the Theobroma, they have produced an article which supersides every other coces in the market. Entire substilly, a delicate aroma, and a rare concentration of the purset elements of austrition, distinguish the Maravilla Cocoa above all others. For Homeopaths and invalids we could not recommend a more agreeable or valuable between."

Sold in packets only by all Grocers, of whom also may be had Taylor, Brothers' original Homeopaths! Cocoa and Soluble Chocolate. Steam Mills, Brick-lane, London.

TO THE MERREUS OF THE AUSTRALIAN MUTUAL PROVIDENT SOCIETY.
GENTLERIEN,—I begt to acknowledge the receipt of your Requisition, inviting me to come forward as a Candidate for the vacancy in the Direction of the Muteal Provident Society, occasioned by the retirement of J. F. Josephan, Eq. 1 had no intention of again seeking a seat at the Board, and, as it well known to many of you, I have since my return from England twice declined pressing invitations to stand. But the present requisition from my co-insurers is so large and respectable, and my satsohment to the Society, as one of its early Directors, is so strong, that I watve my personal disincilization in the matter, and place my services at the disposal of the Members.

I trust, however, I shall not be candidared indifferent if I beg to be excused from making a personal curvas—a proceeding which, under any circ unsistence, I depresate. If my brother members think I am qualified for the daties I am asked to discharge, it will be for them to place me in the position. I cannot force myself upon their consideration. To serve them will be a pleasure and privilege.

DOLYGRAPHIC HALL.—Mr. Woodin's hall, in King William-street, Strand, is at present occupied by Mr. BOBERT HELLER, an American Professor of Legerdemain, who gives Séanois "magical, musical, and humorous." These three epithets are arguificant. As a conjuror in the popular sense of the word, he has indeed few rivals, but as a humosurist and conjuror combined he certainly stands alone. Legerdemain, who gives Séances "magical, musical, and humorous." These three epithets are agnificant. As a conjuror in the popular sense of the word, he has indeed few rivals, but as a humonutes and conjuror combined he certainly stands alone. Shuaning alike the posupous air which is assumed by some of his compositors, and the extreme urbanity which is affected by others, he talks in a quiet sereastic tone, as if intending to convince his spectators that much as he may; desire them to admire his fast, he is by no means astomated at his own predictionary. His discourse abounds in jokes, good, bad, and indifferent, all provocative of laughter, but all as free from any accompaniment of laughter on the part of the joker as those of the late Artennus Ward, whom Mr. Heller sooms to have taken for a model.

The new American conjuror has a mechanical trick or two, including a pascock, like that exhibited by M. Robin, but on the whole he may be said to belong to that severe school of legerdemain in which Frield and Hermann are masters, and to rely rather on his own manual skill than on ingenitously constructed apparatus. His tricks, too, lie out of the ordinary routine, while at the same time they derive an entirely novel character from the unpretending manner in which they are executed. His most showy exploit is the evocation of a flock of live ducks from a large tub, in which two eggs have been deposited; and next in rank comes the extraction, from a borrowed hat, of a lady's gown, which, at first folded up, gradually assumes a bulky appearance, and at last, on being removed, discovers a damsel of no small dimensions. But those who derive their chief gratification from the combination of skill and humons will probably prefer Mr. Heller's revelation of an expedient "to pay the Abysmisian War Tax." Pretending that the air is charged with coins, English and American, he makes a clutch with an empty hand, in which he invariably displays a deline or a shilting, finging every fresh acquisition into a hat, somestimes through

APPEAL TO THE PRIVY COUNCIL.

Mr. OWEN, for plaintiff, moved for leave to appeal to the Privy Council against the decision of the Supreme Court in this case, whereby the decision of the Supreme Court in this case, whereby the decision of his Honor the Primary Judge refusing to grant probate to plaintiff of a document purporting to be a will of W. B. Miller, deceased, was sustained.

Mr. Gordon and Mr. Darlley objected to this application being entertained in the absence of an express consent by plaintiff a hustand to the appeal, contending that this was a different proceeding from that before the Primary Judge, in which the husband had concurred.

Mr. Owen contended that the husband's consent was sufficient for all purposes as to the suit for probate and the appeal with regard to the administration of the estate, and that as the appeal could only be granted on the giving of security to the satisfaction of the Court, there could be no objection on the score of costs.

Mr. Gordon having replied,
Their Honors having replied,
Their Honors having replied,
Their Honors having negligible to warrant an appoal—was involved. The amount of personalty here was stated to be about £20, and of personalty and realty together about £1100; but the point in dispute was whether on an appeal for refused of protone the value of the property—and especially of real property—could be said to be involved, even although the plaintiff was sole legatec.

After a great deal of discussion upon this question,
The Court, by mejority, held that the appeal ought to be granted, because it was positively stated on affidavit that £000 was involved, and there was neither a counter affidavit nor an application to postpone for the filing of such as affidavit. Mr. Justice Hanorane though the point in the postponement that the peen applied for, the Court granted such postponement until Tuesday next. ext. Court adjourned at half-past 5 p.m., until Monday

WATER POLICE COURT.
FRIDAY.

BEFORE the Water Police Magistrate and Mr. Chapman,
Five drunkards were punished.

William Chambers was sent to gaol for three weeks, for having two dessert spoons in his possession, supposed to have been stolen.
George Buckley was charged, on summons, with detaining a boat, belonging to W. B. Melville. An order was made for the delivery of the boat, on payment of £6 18s., due by complainant to defendant.

William Eltham, licensed waterman, appeared on summons, charged with insulling the captain of the ship
Zeminday, who was being conveyed on board by defendant.

The Beach ordered the defendant's license to be cancelled.

Elizabeth Protheroy was brought before the Court-charged with stealing a dress piece, the property of Bridget M'Murrick. The charge was clearly proved, and prisoner was sent to gaol for fourteen days. LICENSING BUSNESS.—The license of the Shipwrights' Arms, Lower George-street, was transferred from Ellen Cercoran to John Maguire.

THE BURNING OF THE SNOWBIRD.

ALEXANDER SHAW was yesterday brought before the Water Police Court on warrant, wherein he is charged that he did, on the 17th July last, on the high seas, feloniously, maliciously, and unlawfully set fire to the schooner Snowbird, with intent to defraud the Pacific and Australiasian Insurance Comments.

niously, maliciously, and uniawfully set fire to the schooner Snowbird, with intent to defraud the Pacific and Australasian Insurance Companies.

Detective Bowden read the warrant to him, and he made no reply to the charge.

Herbert Barrow Montefiore deposed: I am a shareholder in the Pacific and Australasian Insurance Companies; there are a number of other shareholders in both companies; I am also a member of the firm of Montefore and Montefore, agents for the Australasian Insurance Companies; I am also a member of the firm of Montefore and Montefore, agents for the Australasian Insurance Company; I produce two policies of insurance elected in the Australasian Office on goods shipped in the Snowbird; they are dated the 14th June, 1869; one is for £2000, and the other for £2000; I also produce the proposals for the other for £2000; I also produce the proposals for the other for £2000; I also produce are duly signed by the on behalf of the company we represent; on the 17th July last they were valid subsisting policies; the one for £2000 had been reinsured in the Pacific Office.

Colin Smith deposed: I am the manager of the Pacific Insurance Company; I produce a policy of insurance effected on goods per Snowbird for £2000; it is dated the 15th June, and is duly executed; the company were liable under that policy on the 17th July last; the Pacific Insurance Company is incorporated in New South Walse by Act of Parliament; the policy produced is a re-insurance from the Australasian Insurance office.

John Kingdom deposed, I am an engine-driver engaged at the new Post Office; I know the prisoner; knew him slightly in Melbourne, but never spoke to him there; in June last I saw him on board the schooner Snowbird, at Macmanara's Wharf, when I lent him a hat, as his had blown away; on the Saturday following I called to get my hat and saw was in the room at the time; constable U shannasey came in after the prisoner had had his tea; about 12 o'clock the prisoner left the room, bidding the company good night; I saw him about wenty minutes or half an hour after; he came to the parlour door, and apologised to Mrs. Scurfield for coming in his aight-dress, saying he wished to speak to me; I said "All right," and took no further notice; he shut the door and want away; the prisoner was dressed in a night-shirt, a pair of pyrismas, and night-cap; in about ten minutes or a quarter of an hour he returned, and again and he wished to speak to me privately; Mrs. Sourfield and constable O'Shannassy were in the room at the time; in reply to the prisoner I again said all right, and he shut the door; I then went out and saw him in the lobby; he walked into his own room, and I returned to the parlour; the same persons were still there; I think O'Shannassy then left the room; the prisoner again came to the door of the parlour, and said, "Mr. Fairlem, I want to speak to you privately; I will not dotain you many minutes"; I got up and went into the passage to ree what he wanted; he did not speak, and walked to his room; I followed and stood at the threshold of the door; he caught hold of me by the hand, and tried to pull me in, and shut the door on me; he did not says anything at the time; I pushed him on one side, and returned to the parlour; Mrs. Scurfield and constable O'Shannassy were there; I stayed in the parlour about ten minutes; it was then about I o'clock; I asked Mr. Scurfield to wake me in time to go by the coach in the morning; I was solve when I went to bed; I had two or three glasses of grog during the day and evening; I went to bed in the room I always occupy; the prisoner's room was about ten or twelve feet from mine; the curriant at the window of my bedroom was drawn up; I went to bed and fell asleep; I was awakened sbout 4 an. by the bedroom door being opened, and I saw the prisoner standing at the door; I be come of the parlour was all the prisone the base say, Talmer, some transing in the passage; he was half-dressed, with the rest of his clothes in his hands.

This closed the case for the prosecution.

Mr. Ircland said that in the case put before them that day there was not the slightest attempt even to prove that the crime with which his client was charged had been committed.

Mr. Templeton said that so far the Bench agreed with him, but that the evidence went to show that there was an attempt to commit the crime.

Mr. Ircland thought that, accepting the evidence given by the witnesses, it did not show that even an attempt had been made. At the worst construction, it would show a licentions turn of mind, but nothins more. At that late hour he would not enter into the details of the evidence. If the Bench thought there was a sufficient case to send the prisener to trial he would not attempt to imposed on them the functions of a jury. In justice to the prisener, he did not wish it to be supposed that he had tot good grounds for addressing a jury because he did not state them then.

Mr. Templeton said the case had been brought very fairly before the court. They were of opinion that the case must go before a higher court, and that it would be no benefit to the prisoner if they discharged him. The prisoner was then consmitted for trial at the next criminal sessions.

In answer to Mr. Ireland Mr. Templeton said there was a difference of opinion between the magistrates whether the charge should be an attempt to commit a criminal assault or a common assault.

On the application of Mr. Ireland, the Bench reduced the amount of bein one half. The same survices were accepted in £500 each, and the prisoner himself in £1000, DETERMINED SUICIDE AT NELSON, N.Z.—Dr. Combe-barrister and solicitor, of Nelson, was found dead in his hed on the morning of the 3rd instant, with his throat cut. This is the most remarkable instance of determined suicide that has ever been known in this prevince. Though the deceased was known to be somewhat occentric in his ways, his erratic conduct and despondent manner a short time hefore his death created no particular uncestiness amongst his friends. He had been complaining of poor practices and want of money, and had become hyporhomdriscal, which no doubt was the principal cause of the rash act. The deceased was well connected, and had been at one time in presention of considerable wealth.

ASTRONOMICAL MEMORANDUM FOR SEPTEMBER 15TR, 1869.

CHINESE WEIDING.—The marriage of an almondcycd son of the Flowery Land with a buxon daughter of Erin (says the *Orens Advertiser*), which took place a Wengaratta on Wednesday morning, attracted considerable attention on account of the grand dislay made by those who took part in the festivities. The bridegroom, a respectable gardener, residing in Warby's ranges, was dressed in the height of Buropean fashion, and looked as only a Chinaman can look under such peculiar circumstances. As for the bride, gorgeousness is a mild term to apply to the splendours of her toilet on the suspicious occasion. The marriage cortige as it wended its way through the streats attracted no small amount of admiration, not unmixed with wonder.

EMIGRATION AGENT FOR GUERNALAD.—We notice

EMIGRATION AGENT FOR QUEENSLAND.—We notice that the Brithane Courier has learned, on what it takes to be good authority, that Mr. Kirchner has been appointed Agent for Emigration from Germany. Several years ago that gentleman sent out some thousands of his countrymen to the negloidantly releasy of New Seuth Wales; and if integrity, experience, and a lively interest in his work can make a good agent, we believe that Mr. Kirchner will be found to possess all these qualifications, and therefore should be successful.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 18, 1869.

ONE of the most remarkable developments of the present day is the power which it gives to all Churches and parties to make grand demonstrations, imposing by their number and representative force. The contrast between the present, and even fifty years ago, is immense. The facilities of intercourse have been followed by its freedom. The law of passports is abolished in many countries, and passports is abousted in many countries, and scarcely ever enforced with strictness, excepting where danger is apprehended by the State. The formation of parties to secure in the cheapest way all the advantages of a trip, have made Paris and London nearer than neighbouring towns half a century ago. Thus nothing but the dearness of provisions, unless a check interposed by the Government, could prevent Rome from being inundated with spectators who would rush to see the pageant and ceremonial which are certain to acpageant and ceremonial which are certain to ac-company this great Conference of the hierarchy. At the cost of a few pounds a zealous par-tisan may go from the most distant regions to Italy, and a confluence of people be gathered such as Rome never witnessed even when pilgrimages were in vogue, and peculiar blessings were supposed to be imparted by relics. But the same facilities which carried people to the Great Exhibition of Paris—where the triumphs of material art were exhibited to the representatives of all nations—will carry multitudes of a different temper, indeed, but equally earnest, to this great clerical assembly, and will enable the people who adopt views of moral and religious questions often in antagonism to those propounded by Pius IX., to assemble a vast demonstration against them.

Should this Council take place, and last for any length of time, and should its decrees transpire, they will a-suredly be met by a counter demonstration, supported by authorities which, at least, command as widely the suffrages of European nations. What may suffrages of European nations. What may be the object of the Council cannot, indeed be the object of the Council cannot, indeed, be very clearly gathered from the announcement of those who are about to attend it. It is stated by a prelate of a neighbouring colony, that its object is to harmonise opinion, and to promote union among Christians; but, in giving this account of its purport, if the report is to be trusted, he announced a broad dissent from the doctrines laid down by his ecclesiastical chief in reference to gious privileges. Nothing can be more dis-tinct and absolute than the denial of this doctrine by the head of the Roman Catholic Church. No anathemas can be stronger than Church. Ne anathemas can be stronger than those he has pronounced against religious freedom, both as an abstract question, and in its recent practice in the Austrian Empire. He has employed the most vehement language to express loating and abhorrence of the from even an ecclesiastical vocabulary. The koman Catholic Church at present may not be bound by these declarations of its ecclesiastical head. It has been, and still is the opinion of vast bodies of Roman Catholics in France and other countries, that no one has a right to ascribe to any individual, however exalted, a power of infallibly deciding disputed doctrine, or of imposing political or nations. The explicit language of the Pora, indeed, left nothing to conjecture—nothing for explanation. No doubt explanations were attempted by certain advocates of the Roman See, but they were never recognised as true or admissible by their chief, and were made indeed as an spology, and not as an authorita-tive exposition. It is, no doubt, a popular argu-ment against liberty of conscience to assert that it permits all kinds of extravagance, and touches very closely upon social disorder. It is, no doubt, easy to say that this freedom of conscience requires an interpreter, and that there are limits beyond which no Government permits it to go, and that those limits have never been defined with precision. But this explanation, although it may satisfy some persons, is not tenable upon the precise words of the Syllabus and the Encyclical Letter, or of those rescripts which have issued from the Papal See since the publication of the Syllabus, and by which all kinds of intellectual and religious freedom have been explicitly

So long as these papers have no other authority than the venerable name of their author may give them, they may be received by some Roman Catholic nations with respect by some Roman Catholic nations with respect and laid aside; but it is understood that the object of the coming Council is to take up the doctrines of the Syllabus, and to confirm them. It would therefore be gratifying to learn—if we could so understand the language of Dr. Quinn—that in any assent to the theories propounded for his acceptance, he would take care to save the rights of conscience and the freedom of opinion, and that when he returns he will not come encumbered with anathemas.

opinion, and that when he returns he will not come encumbered with anathemas.

The idea which Protestants hold of liberty of conscience—if they would fairly carry it out, as millions are disposed to do at great sacrifices—is that every man has a right to hold his own opinion of every subject; that every man has a right to do whatever pleases him, provided he does not do anything that would be injurious to his neighbour, and that the only weapons recognitions. bour, and that the only weapons recognisable in opposition to error, either moral or religious, are the power of persuasion and influence of example. It is under the shadow of these great truths that the Roman Catholics of the British Empire now enjoy so large a share of religious liberty. It is not that they have overcome by force, for they would be as impotent now as in times gone by, if their privileges depended upon their relative strength; but they enjoy equality with their Protestant neighbours, who because they have a right to these privi-leges, and because to withhold or to diminish leges, and because to withhold or to diminish them would be inconsistent with the true relations of men to each other, and their common responsibility to the Gon that made them. If these principles be admitted, even with explanations, by the Church of Rome, they will find acceptance throughout the Protestant world. They the Church of Rome, they will find accept-ance throughout the Protestant world. They will go far to secure that universal harmony which it is said to be the object of the Council to Canada explaining the intended withdrawal.

assembly is to lay down laws binding upon the human conscience, and inimited to the liberty of man, they will not pass uncontradicted. The whole Protestant world will resolutely oppose them, and, if they do not occasion appears the protestation it will be because the liberty of the British Government to keep at the minimum the military force stationed is the self-governing colonies. Whether this will be an economical duted. The whole Protestant world will resolutely oppose them, and, if they do not occasion a new protestation, it will be because the spirit of the present age is liberated from the apprehension of any clerical power, and that the progress of knowledge has rendered every kind of extravagance, with whatever solemnity proposuled uttesty incorporation and prescribes. propounded, utterly inoperative and unavailing.
There is an essential difference between the proposed Council and those of olden times.
Not a single potentate will be represented within its precincts. Those who might be inclined from sympathy are all on their travels, or have constitutional Governments to con-trol them. The Sovereign who should assent trol them. The Sovereign who should assent to theories utterly in epposition to his sworn duties as a prince, would present an example of insincerity which would shake the foundations of his throne. Thus, we are not surprised that kings stand aloof from a Council called by a man of singular worth no doubt, and exalted piety, but whose views of human life are some centuries behind the times.

THE subject of colonial good faith in the matter of Loans was lately discussed in the House of Commons in connection with Canadian finances. The British Parliament or the construction of an interprovincial for the construction of an interprovincial railway from Halifax to Montreal. The colonial Government took advantage of the low rate of interest lately prevailing, and of the preference given to all Government stocks, to negotiate the loan, which they did on very favourable terms. But when they had obtained possession of the money, they could not possibly use it at once for the intended purpose, as the railway will take a long time to construct, and the payments will only be made by degrees. The Treasurer of the Dominion, therefore, lent the money to his Government, or, in other words, invested it in Canadian six per cent. bonds. Thereupon a complaint was raised in some quarters in in Canadian six per cent. bonds. Thereupon a complaint was raised in some quarters in England, and it was proclaimed that the colony had been playing off a amart Yankee trick on the mother country—that it had been getting an Imperial guarantee ostensibly for the purpose of a railway, and using it to pay off old debts with the new loan. Mr. Glabstone, however, on behalf of the Government, absolved the colony from any blame in the matter. He explained that the investment was only temporary, and was quite justifiable; matter. He explained that the investment wa-only temporary, and was quite justifiable; that there was no ground for supposing that the colony would not fulfil its bargain, and that it had done nething inconsistent with it as yet.

There is more room for doubt as to the There is more room for doubt as to the policy of the expenditure on the line. It is intended to unite the naval depot of Halifax, which is always open even in the depth of winter, with the inland territories of the Dominion, and to do this without passing through foreign territory. But the route is rendered circuitous by the swkwardness of the boundary line. The straightest and easiest route would pass through the State of Maine. In the treaty which settled the boundary it has always been said that the British Ambassador was jockeyed; but that is an error which is now past remedy. Things being as they are, the colonists preferred a roundabout line to no line at all, and to being cut off in time of winter and war from all communication with the mother country; but as the work was beyond their own resources, they sought the aid of the English Government.

When the bill was being discussed in the House of Commons Mr. Lowz opposed the guarantee. He said that the railway would be comparatively useless in time of peace, as it was not a route which commarker would.

that there was no ground the depole of the list berging the last company and so of the list berging the last company and so of the list berging the last company and the company of the last company of the la to promote. But if the object of this of troops state that the reductions announced

Whether this will be an economical plan is, perhaps, open to doubt, as the forces to be withdrawn from the outlying portions of the empire must be maintained somewhere, or else the general mulitary establishment must be reduced. But it is nechably less a matter of economy than it is probably less a matter of economy than the end simed at being to concentrate as matter of mixed military and colonial policy, the end simed at being to concentrate as much as possible military force, and not expose it to surprises and defeats in detail, and to accustom colonies as much as possible to self-reliance in the matter of defence.

There are two things which happen in meet such affections—either the organ calerges, sometimes to an enormous degree beyond its proper size, or it contracts below it. No cause is so productive of chronic calergement of the liver as heat. The hot climate of India is no frequent a cause of this disorder, that to come home with a big liver and a heavy purse was a current jobs in the palmy days of money-making in that country. By the alow influence of climate the organ becomes engoged with blood and its functions aluggitably performed. The result is seen in the madely or even home that of skin so characteristic of Indian residents, which is due to the imperfect climination of bile from the system. The New States of Simple Pleading.

We have already pointed out what a large saving of expenditure will be accomplished by the short and simple pleadings of the Draft Law Referm Act of 1869. It must also be borne in mind that the short and simple pleadings must be adopted in reference both to legal and equitable remedies. The Draft Law Reform Act has provided for the fusion of law and equity, established one uniform code of procedure both at law and in equity, and necessitated the adoption of a short and simple pleading in reference both to legal demands and equitable claims. It remains only to answer one question. "But how can this be done? Will not the lawyers sick to their old system, and protect that the new one cannot work?" No doubt there are lawyers who will say so. Lawyers have always been found to say so when setting their faces against law reform. But there is very little use saying this in the present advanced age, and more especially when we have in operation is England short and simple forms of pleading in Equity Courts. These short forms will be found in the appendix to the rules made to carry cut the equitable jurisdiction of the County Courts in England. What the draft law Reform Act of 1869 does, is simply to provide that the aame rules of pleading for concise statements in plain and ordinary language, shall be used in both cases. If I seek for a decree requiring one who has agreement by conveying the land, although in the one case I seek atomages only, and in the other case I can set forth what is my cause of action concisely, and in ordinary very-day language. It is also obvious that it is not necessary to describe the cause of action differently, because in the case of having proformance of the agreement, yet it is plain that in both case I can set forth what is my conseed a set on a cause of action di point and cordinary temporary shadows or if I seek for a greement, to covery land to me, or if I seek for a greement, by each at the other case I seek actual performance of the agreement, yet it is plain that in both case I can see a set in the other case I seek actual performance of the agreement, yet it is plain that in both case I can see a set in the control of the control o the District Court Judges of the several districts wherein they have jurisdiction, and wherein it is provided they shall permanently reside. No one need be afraid of the Judges having too much to do—because in a great number of cases questions will be disposed of by Referees. For instance, suppose that a treepeas dispute — a question of peasesion or no possession—arises in the district wherein Wagga Wagga is situated. What a saving of expenditure in respect to witnesses, and other expenses will take place in having the investigation carried on by three Referees, at Wagga Wagga, by a Police Magistrate or Crown Commissioner, or any other public officer, and two neighbouring squatters. And surely this mede of dealing with disputed questions, when rendered compulsory by an order of a Judge, in Sydney, after hearing the parties concerned, would be more satisfactory than the trial at the sasines, or in Sydney, with all the concomitant expenses and delays.

NEW TRIALS.—THE NUISANCE.

cerred, would be more estisfactory than the trial at the assiss, or in Sydney, with all the concomittant expenses and delays.

Who has not heard of the nuisance of "New trial." The suitors and the Judges alike treat new trial as prople do a mad dog. They would get out of its way if they could. The learned Judges suffer under meetical proples as much as the unfortunate suitors. To use the expression of one learned Judge, the Beach "strughed see as much as new trial. But alsa they have in a great many cases to struggle in vain. In most cases the delay and expense are unedurable." The medical quacks used to keep "To cure you I must bleed you." The Legal Quacks say to the Public "To give you justles I must nee tried you." This new trial nuisance must be got rid of, and the Draft Law Report Act will do so. What is the present practice in reference to new trials? In Barrister signs a notice of motion for a new trial, the attorney having instructed him to do so, and attended upon him accordingly. Then during the first four days of the next term, which may be two months distant, the barrister and the attorney attend in Court and obtain from the Court, if the case is at all arguable, a rule calling on the other side to shew cause why a new trial should not be had. After a delay of several terms, as happened in the case of the Roomerang wool case alluded to above, the respective barristers and the respective attorneys present themselves in Court before the three Judges, and after the matter is argued, the motion for a new trial is made absolute of deal of misunderstanding tikes place by reason of no one being agreed at to what really took place after the three Judges, and after the matter is argued, the motion for a new trial is made absolute of none being agreed at to what really took place after the three Judges, and after the matter is argued, the motion for a new trial is made absolute of none being agreed at the trial, never these to court before the three Judges, and after the matter is argued, in the case may be V

Under the Law Reform Act, no new trial can be moved far in respect of a verdict being against evidence, or for a substantial error on the part of the Judge, except rotic :—first oral and then in writing—be given in open Court immediately after the verdict; where upon the Court shall appoint day in the same sitting for hearing the application upon the Judge's minutes. An appeal from the Judge's decision, upon an application for a new trial, may be taken to a Supreme Court Gereral Sitting—the plaintiff, in case he is the pellant, giving security for costs, and the defendant, in case of his succeeding, giving security for complying with the judgement as well as for costs.

Now the advantages of these proceedings are obvious. While the facts are fresh in the memory of Judge and barrister and attorney, and while the suppessed error, whatever it may be, is vivid in the minds of all, the motion for new trial is discussed before the Judge may be taken also for review at once to the full Court for final adjudication, but not without requiring security to be given by the appellant. These are the advantages of the proposed practice. Whilst the memory is fresh the meter for new trial is discussed without delay, and the temptation for further delay is got rid of by interposing no difficulty in appealing at once to the full Court, and by requiring the appellant to give security. Thus, there is adequate provision for ensuring a new trial, where there has been a miscarriage at the first trial, and at the same time very wholesome checks are provided against the abuse of moving for new trials for the purpose of delay and expense, or upon trifling and unasubstential grounds.

THE following notifications appear in yesterday's Govern-ment Gazette:ment Gasetts.—Mr. Richard Moody to be Traffic Appointments.—Mr. Richard Moody to be Traffic Manager of the Great Southern, Western, and Richmond Railways. Mr. Samuel Crook to be Railway Station Master at Mulgrave.

To the Editor of the Herald,

81R,—On reading a paragraph in your issue of yesterday, which describes one of the constantly practised barbarities upon the working cattle of these colonies, my mind naturally reverted to the statement from Buchanan's life of Auduhon, which shows most strikingly the effect of a contrary treatment. It cannot be supposed the cattle here are less intelligent or less susceptible of kindness than those in other parts of the world; unless upon the theory that the existing race of animals has been brutalised by the continued barbarity of their masters. Hoping you may think the extract worthy a place in your journal.

I am, Sir, yours, &c.

TREATMENT OF WORKING CATTLE.—In the State of Maine, U.S. " " Them reader is the time for witnessing the exertions of their fine large cattle. No reds do their drivers use to pain their finalks, no oaths or imprecations are ever heard to fall from the tips of those most industricus and temperate men; fer in them, as indeed in most of the inhabitants of our Rasters States, education and habit have tempered the passions, and reduced the moral constitution to a state of harmony; nay, the sobriety that exists in many of the villages of Maine I have often considered as carried to excess, for on asking for brandy, rum, or whishy not a drop could I obtain. " " But to return to the management of the oxes. Why, reader, the lumberers speak to them as if they were rational beings; few words seem to suffice, and thair whole strength is applied to the labour, as if in gratitude to those who treat them with so much gentleness and humanity. While present on more than one occasion, at what Americans call 'ploughing matches,' which they have annually in many of the States, I have been highly gratified, and in particular at one of which I have a strong recollection, and which took place a few miles from the fair and hospitable city of Boston. There I saw fifty or more ploughs, drawn by as many pairs of oxen, which perfermed their work with so much scouracy and regularity, without the inilication of whip or rod, but merely guided by the verbal mandates of the ploughman, that I was perfectly astonished." THE PROFOSED GAS AND OIL COMPANY.

The proposal to start a new Gas Company or rather a Gas and Oil Company is addressed to two classes of persons—investors of capital, and consumers of gas.

To each of these classes I would respectfully suggest a few points which I think deserving of their serious on-sideration.

Investors may suppose that, from the small price of the shares, £1 cach, they cannot run much risk, whatever may happen. But even a single share will make its owner answerable in law for all the company's debts and isblitties. Nothing can relieve him from the risk but an Act of Parliament, and if he is told that such an Act will be applied for, he would do well to consider whether the propriet of the existing Gas Company, being charged with unlimited liability, it is probable that the Logislature would grow the rivals in trade an advantage so exceedingly unif-a.

Investors would also do well to sak themselves the question, is it like 'that the new company could compate with the old one but at such a sacrifice of profit as would render a high dividend unsattainable, a moderate dividend improbable, and no dividend at all by no means impossible? Would not the old company, in pure self-defence, strain all its ample recourses to compass these ends?

To gas consumers I would venture to say, "Look well before you permit yourselves to believe that the proposed company could supply you with a better or a chapper gas than is supplied aiready. You are, perhaps, aware, that the existing company are carrying out extensive improvements in their meantracturing and distributing plant, on the most approved principles now adopted in Great Britain, with a view to their producing a gas of high character, and at low prices. The company's policy has hithere led to various concessions for your advantage—reductions in the price of gas, and the entire abelition of charges for service pipes, and for the use of meters. And may you not confidently expect still further concessions when the new plan

SPRINGS FOR CHAIN CABLES.

To the Editor of the Herald.

Six,—In your issue of to-day I perceive a letter signed "S. M. Sarby, R.N.," on the above subject, conveying much praise in favour of an invention by Captain Saunders in "Indistrubber Springs."

I take leave to state that on the 10th of Documber, 1862, nearly seventeen years ago, I submitted to the Government of this colony my plans for the protection of shipping visiting the port of Newcastle and other exposed places in bad weather, which plan consisted of a ratir or break water at each end of my moorings or cable. I then proposed an indistrubber greenant to prevent the great tension consequent on the each breaking on the raft. A model of my raft was recently tested in Fort Jackson. The original letters and official replies thereto are now in my possession, and any selectific or interested person is welcome to portue the correspondence.

It would appear that Captain Saunders had an interview with Mr. Bright, as President of the Board of Trade in the Ragish Ministry, on the subject of his invention.

I have always considered my invention one of the best things I ever did, and of the highest importance to all classes of ships, so far as the indistrubber spring is concurred, superially on hoard coasting vassels; and what cought we not to try and do for our seamen, the founders of our foreign possessions, our trade and commerce, civilination, peace, and plenity.

I have pressed my plans on the consideration of every Government of this colony from 1868 up to the present time, and I am happy to state that the Hon. the Minister for Public Worte (Mr. Sutherland) has authorised me to construct one of my proposed rate on a large scale, and I hope to have the affect of the Mercardie Marine. I feel pleasure in conveying that Mr. Sutherland gave may every secons, and the weeks, proving itself, and apring moorings for the pinns, for the benefit of the Mercardie Marine. I feel pleasure in conveying th which has intely been exhibited in England and with every success.

By this method a hundred passengers can be conveyed at a speed of forty miles an hour, and around curves as small as to be only fifty feet radius, by a machine which weight only fifteen tones, including fuel, water, and for a journey of forty miles.

Now, it has been shown by statistics compiled from the Board of Trade returns, that the average number of passengers per train in England is 731, and the average weight of the passenger train is 140 tons, shewing a proportion between the paying and nonpaying load of 1 to 20.

This fact must prove that there is something eapable of improvement in our means of hosmotios, irrespective of economy of management. Why drag 140 tons instead of 25 for the purpose of transporting one hundred people from one place to another.

Again this new carriage is said to afford accommodation in every respect equal to that on the first-rate main lines of England.

Under the present system of heavy engines the first cost of construction of any line is so great that the whole country is in a considerable measure retarded in its producing capacity for want of a ready means of transport. Our railway system cannot be extended except at an almost prohibitive outlay.

To develop a new country requires firstly a quick, as fe.

ducing capacity for want of a ready means of transport. Our railway system cannot be extended except at an aimost prohibitive outlay.

To develop a new country requires firstly a quick, as fe, and cheap system of locomotion; cheap in first coat consistent with excellence of material and workmanhip.

Now by this new steam carriage, a vast economy and saving in first coat as well as in maintenance is obtained. The rails can be made much lighter, exposed to infinitely less wear and tear in consequence of the reduced weight drawn along tham. The engines and carriages are far less cumbrous, and we no longer see such a startling disproportion in the paying and non-paying loads; nor can we lose sight of the enormous awing in fusi, in real wear and tear of the working parts of the locomotive, and original cost of the train complete.

I feel convinced that the present time is most opportune for the proper consideration of any improvement in, as well as extension of the railway system, and a wide field is now thrown open for practical ingensity in devising a cheep, durable, and elastic permanent way. Let us look to our rails and try and find something more adaptable to a common high road.

CLIDE TRAINING SHIF.—Her Majesty's ship Cumberland, as a training ship for the Clyde, has been lent by the Lords of the Admiralty to the Glasgow Committee. This may lead to the establishment of similar ships at the other great seaports in Scotland. The moment, too, is singularly opportune, for at the present time wooden sailing ships of war are returning, like the Cumberland, from foreign stations, never to return to them again. Instead of stripping these vessels and selling their hulls to the ship-breakers for the price of the copper, the Government will exercise a sound economy in handing them over, with their rasts and spars all standing, to the local committees.

Complaints are general amongst the larger importing houses that the past week has been one of the most inactive of the season. To one branch of trade—the drapery it was rather unsatisfactory, as several retail houses in the city stopped payment. A meeting of creditors in the estate of Messra.

H. Fisher and Sons, merchants, was also held, and a statement submitted, showing liabilities amounting to about £17,000, assets about £120.

No decision was arrived at. The recent changes in the breadstuffs market have caused some inquiry into the causes of the late rise in prices. So far as can be learned, the movement is entirely due to Adelaide operators running up the market.
This can scarcely be upon the grounds that the drought is likely to injure the growing crop, as part of the immense surplus stock of California are available for import. It is said that we have at present between two and three months' supply in this colony, and should the forthcom-ing harvest be equal to the consumption of the colonies, shipments hence from foreign ports can only have the effect of unduly depressing prices of the new crop and withdrawing money which would otherwise remain in Australia. Prices of flour have not changed in this marke: for the last two days. Candles are steady at 10 d. for full weights. Dundee goods dull at late quotations. There is a very limited demand for dried fruits of superior quality; currants have been done at 31d. for good truit; little lots of choice are held for 4d. The only sales of for a choice are need to ful. The only sales of coffee have been almost of a retail character; Plantation at 9½d, to 9½d, Manila 6d, to 6½d. Good samples of dried ling and white herrings, if prime, are the most saleable articles under the Is prime, are the most salesole articles under the head of fish. Liquors generally are lower, £6 10s. has been accepted for a leading brand of bulk ale, and 8s. 6d. to 9s. for bottled. Stout is offering at lower rates. There is very little sale for brandy; prices are nominally unaltered, say 7s. 6d. to 7s. 9d. for Martell's and Hennessy's in wood; 26s. 6d. for the latter in Geneva has changed hands at 11s. for small contents. Rum is offering at 3s. 5d. to 3s. 7d., with a fully supplied market. Other spirits are only dealt in as required for im-

In metals there is nothing new to report; prices are almost nominal. Oilmen's stores are extremely dull. Rice is selling in small quantities at £23 10s. for Patna; £17 for dressed Bankok. Sales of new teas ex Boy Bendixen have supplied the trade for the present. A considerable portion of the cargo has changed hands. Salt is dull, and fully 5s.

The Brisbane Courier of Saturday reports :-The Brisbane Courier of Saturday reports:—
Complaints are frequent as to the dulness of trade, and indeed the only articles in which there appears to be any stir are flour and sugar. With reference to the first named, private advices to hand confirm the telegrams aiready adverted to, and there is a gerral advance all through the colonies. The accounts of the growing crops in Victoria and South Australia are anything but favourable, but with timely raise the yield might yet some up to the average. There is no probabilistic comments of the average. There is no probabilistic comments are adverted to the average. There is no probabilistic comments are adverted to the series of stocks in the milliers' hands, together with cause above-mentioned, tend to keep the market in an excited state, which of course has its effect here. Prices are difficult to quote, but $16 to $17 per to may be taken as the price for the best Adelaide town brands, though some country brands are quoted at $15. The tendency of the market is undoubtedly to higher pricess. Bugar continues very firm, particularly the lower classes of causters and rations, of which the supplies are hardly sufficient to meet the demands. At present the principal supplies are very various in quality, but they are mostly brown counters, which realse from £86 to £40 per ton. All the parcels yet brought into the market have been eagerly bought up.

PUBLIC NOTICES

THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD Australian Gas Light Company's Office, Sydney, 17th September, 889.
Six,—With reference to a primed document purporting to be attracts from a reput of Mr. A. h. Smith, I am instructed to request that you will be so good as to reputhish the subjoined statements; which will be supplemented on an early day by some further particular.

AUSTRALIAN GAS-LIGHT COMPANY. The Directors of the Australia Gas-Light Company baving reason to believe that very erroneous impressions are entertained respecting the Company's operations, deem it right to lay before the public the following scattement of facts:—

It right to lay before the public the following scattering of facts:—

The profits divided amongst the shareholders from the con-meter ment of the Company to the present time, have averaged less than 11 per cent, per annum.

On two occusions such has the dividend with bonns bonn as high as 20 per cent, per annum, when the ordinary profits had been applemented by the premiums on surplus and forfeited shares sold by anction. In twolve instances it has been 16 per cent; in fifteen instances 10 per cent; in nine instances a fraction above 8 per cent; in two below e. per cent; and in one instance there was no dividend at all.

As regards the prices of gas, it has always been the Com-countries.

And as in England prices have been gradually coming flown in proportion to the increase of consumption, so also have they been deceeding in Sydney, through a series of cears, on the rame principle, as the following table will have.

With the view of having the quality of the gas tested by competent and disinterested examination, the Directors have availed themselves, during the last eighteen months, of the scientific services of Mr. Charles Watt, of the University of Sydney, whose reports show that the average specific gravity of the Company's gas is "459—equal to the English average, and its average illuminating power upwards of 11 candier, in some instance exceeding 12, the Parlamentary standard in London, and that it is generally quite free from aulphuretted hydrogen—that is, that the gas is quite pure. Of Mr. Watt's competency the Directors have the assurance of Professor Smith, who has sometimes verified his results.

The Company's present annual revenue, from gas rental

No. 2.

Extract of a memorandum of Directors of the Austrain Gas Light Company, under date of 13th November 1865.

"It has of late been the practice of the Imperial Parliament, to discourage the formation of competing gas companies, experience having shown that a needless multiplication of capital is unfavourable to cheapness of supply. Amongst the number of bills applied for during the last session, eight were for the establishment of cumpeting companies, not one of which obtained the sanction of Parliament.

"They beg to refer to an official statement published in the newspapers in 1863 (appended hereto), showing the dividends and bonuers together, from the commencement of the Company to that time, had averaged less than 11 per cent. per annum. Since then there have been five more divisions of profits, each at the rate of 15 per cent. per annum.

divisions of profits, each at the rate of 15 per cent, per annum.

"In the same paper it is shown that the Company had reduced the price of gas from time to time, and that it was then twelve shillings per thousand cubic feet, the average illuminating power being eleven candles. Subsequently, the price has been again reduced twice, and is now ten shillings per thousand, whilst the illuminating power has been raised to sixteen candles, as certified in the latest report of Mr. Charles Watt, the analytical chemist. Of twenty-eight Acts passed during the last season of the Imperial Parliament, calearing the powers of existing gas companies, the previsions respecting the price and quality of gas averaged five shillings and twopence per thousand as the maximum price, and fourteen and s quarter candles as the minimum illuminating power. Thus, while in Sydaey, the illuminating power exceeds the standard fixed for Raglish towns by the most recent legislation, the price is scarcely double, the cost of labour and materials averaging from a hundred to uwards of two hundred per cent.

"Within the last three and a half years the Company have from a hundred to upwards of two numers per com-more.

"Within the last three and a half years the Company have thrice reduced the charge to the city, the present charge for gas supplied to public lampe being £7 10s, per annum, equal to about 8s. 8d. per thousand feet. For the use and maintenance of each lamp and pillar, including painting, glazing, lighting, and extinguishing, there is an extra charge of 20s, per annum, which, as before stated, does not cover the actual money outlay, leaving nothing for interest on the capital invested in the purchase and importation of the lamps and pillars.

"The present number of public street lamps supplied by the Company, including those paid for by the Government, as well as those paid for by the city and what ban Corporations, is $13, which upon the mains laid down (about 60 miles) averages lees than 14 lamps per mile, while in Dublin the public lamps range from 24 to 53 per mile, and in London from 56 to 165."

DISSOLUTION OF PARTNERSHIP. For SALE, in consequence of dissolution of parimerability, the imagnificent SUGAR PLANTATION OF BELLENDEN PLANTS, Rockingbara Bay, Queenland. This fine estate consists of 1250 acres of land (had under the 66th clause of the Lund Act of 1883), of which 30 acres-are under sugar cane, and upwards of 600 acres are clear, fenced, and ready for the plough. There are two good weather board three-roomed houses with versadaha and kitchen attached, carpenter's and blacksmith's shed, six slab huts and kitchen for men, garden, stockyard, milizingyard, horse and call puddecks, for. There is aubstantial wharf and crane within half a mile of the plantation, a salling boat, and a ten-ton punt on the Murray, an ever running fresh water stream, up which the vessels trading on the ceast come with supplies; the distance from Gardwell being thirty miles by water and twenty miles by land. The manufactory one hundred feet by forty-eight feet to receive the sugar machinery, the molasses, tanks, and chimney stalk have been erected, and all the other foundations required laid. With the plantation will be sold about twenty draught and riding horses, care, bloughs, agricultar-all implements, and all the requisities for working a sugar landing to a feet of the control of Rockingham Bay, the statements of the Calonia Botaniat shewing that this district must be regarded set the garden of tropical Australia, being sufficient.

To persona desirous of investing in the increasing and profitable industry, there could be no better chance, and, with the high price for sugar now obtaining, the estate would probably clear itself in two years.

For further particulars apply to Mesers, WILLIAM WOLLEN and CU. Sydney; or on the Plantation.

BOWMAN'S GRANT of 180 acres.

The Auctionest particularly recommends parties desirous of securing a most valuable property to inspect this now about to be offered, as an opportunity like the present will rarely occur to secure so large a tract of PARM and ORCHARD LAND so close to the Medicapolina market, and within so few minutes walk of a Ealiway Bation. The beautiful undulating mature of the ground senders it particularly well suited for the GULTIVATION OF ORANGES, the drainage being naturally formed; and the aspect for the GROWTH OF THE VINZ cannot be surpassed.

A large portion of the land is WRLL TIMBERED with heavy trees of ironbark, which will of themselves return to the purchaser an excellent income, if out and sent to the Sydney market for eale; and that which has been under cultivation needs only to be sown, when an abundant harvest must result.

Application can be made to the men in charge of the property, who will show purchasers all they may require.

SUGAR PLANTATION LANDS.

800 ACRES,
A portion of THE YARRABANDINI ESTATE, close te the township of FREDERICKTOWN. TITLE unquestionable. TRRMS at sale.

TITLE unquestionable. TERMS at sale.

PAYNES, TREEVE, and CO, have received instructions from Mrs. CHAPMAN to sell by public action, at MORT'S ROOMS, Pitt-street, at 11 deck, on WEDNESDAY, 6th OCTOBER.

That really valuable property, comprising 800 acres, more or less, portion of the calculated and factorial translation of the Machander of Fredericktown, on the MACLEAY RIVER.

Tarnbandini is, without doubt, one of the finest properties of the Machay River; about 500 acres are RICH ALLUVIAL LAND, naturally cleared, and the remarking 300 acres excellent forest land, and would be found to be particularly well adapted for a sufficient of the sale in the sale in gains, fic., together with a constortable family residence.

AT In bringing this truly valuable estate before the public, it is only necessary to state that the soft is very rich and eminently adapted for growing sugar-case; that iffile on expense would be incurred in a pinntation, the had being to a large extent naturally cleared; that if the had being to a large extent naturally cleared; that it was not not the summaries of the sugar state frontage; that it is close to a township; and the the improvements already upon it are such as at once medical to a PRODUCTIVE and REMUNERATIVE INVESTMENT.

Perhaps at no time has there been a more favourable constructly for the introduction of a new interest in the court han now. The recent news from Cube positing investibily to a temporary and probably permanent extinctions of these who may provide for the deficiency in this stapic, which must arise from that hitherto largely productive market.

7184 ACRES OF LAND, near RUSSELL, BAY OF ISLANDS.

RICHARDSON and WRENCH have received instructions to sell by public auction, at the Rosma, Pitt-street, on PRIDAY, 24th September, at 11 o'clock,
All that superior block of native land, known as Pungaree Kerf Kerf, about 10 miles from Bussell, Bay of Islands, containing 7164 ACRES, bounded on two sides by fresh water streams, on which are several waterfalls running into navigable saltwater creeks, and otherwise bounded by missionary lands and Crown lands.

The land is generally level, two-thirds alluvial, with about 500 acres of bush. Coal has been found in the finmediate neighbourhood, and it is reported that gold has been found on the land.

* The above having passed the Native Lands Court Title, the purchaser can have his title at case, and the vendors will pay the native lands duty, so that there will be no other charges but those attending the sale of lands held by Europeans.

For further particulars apply to R. A. Mackechnie, Eq., solicitor, Belmore-chambers, George-street; or at the Rooms, Pitt-street.

On the north the run includes nearly the whole of the Cowal Lake, which, either in times of drought or ordinary seasons, carries and fattens a very large quantity of stock; the principal portion of the rest of the run is consposed of numerous small platns, richly gressed, and divided by belts of myall. The southern portion of the run, formed by the Clear Ridges block, is mostly open forest country, sound, healthy, and well gressed, and admirablyadapted for, and would carry, a large number of absept.

The supply of water is abundant and permanent, as, in addition to LAKE COWAL, BLAND CREEK forms one bundary of the station, while the back run is also well watered by BRANCH CREEK, flowing all through the country into Lake Gowal.

The IMPROVEMENTS are extensive and complete: they comprise DWELING-HOUSE of 6 rooms, kitchen, hay shed, and all other necessary outbuildings. The stockyard is capable of working 5000 head of cattle, and is litted with drafting yards, having swing gates and every requisite for convenionally working the herd.

The paddock accommodation is large, and is enclosed by about iteraty miles of geed feacing, forming a block of nearly five miles square, subdivided into four paddocks, viz., the house, horees, dairy, and greas paddock—the latter containing about 16,000 acres.

On the run there is a substantial Dairy Retabilishment, at which about 100 cows are constantly at work; this has so much steadied the cattle that they might nearly be called a DAIRY REED.

The Billabong station is about 45 miles from the Weddin Mountala Diggings, 40 miles from Forbes, 156 from

The Billabong station is about 45 miles from the Weddin Mountain Diggings, 46 miles from Forbes, 156 from Bethurst, and about 600 miles from Melbourns. It is situated close to the main routs for cattle travelling to the Southern market, and would make an excellent dapot in connection with breeding estations. It has no main read through the run.

With the above station will be sold

2000 HERD OF CATTLE, more or less, a very choice herd, having been bred from imported stock and their progeny for a number of years,

The above station is a very desirable investment, as it is, without exception, one of the most profitable cuttle properties in the Luchian district, being surrounded by several local markets for its fat stock, while it is also within an easy travelling distance from Bydney. It is now in the market for SALE WITHOUT RESERVE, and the attention of capitalists is especially directed to it as affording them the best opportunity of the season for affording them the best opportunity of the season for the statement of capitalists is especially directed to it as affording them the best opportunity of the season for Terms at sale.

y anction on Model A. 1, the "Company's Mill," together with the ALLOTMENT on which it stands. The said allotment comprising THREE AND A.-H.Al.P. ACRES, and bounded by Dangar, Dumaring, and Jessie streets on the cast, south, and wat, respectively, and by the Creek on the north, and attacted in the CENTRE OF AEMIDALE. the CENTRE OF ARMIDALE.

The building, ercoted two and a half years since, is of stages, 72 feet fong by 25 freet in width, of three floors. Two never-failing wells, and iron hot-waser shark holding 4000 gallons, supply the boiles. The machinery is by Micears. Chaptans, Brothers, of Sydneys, and compilese a 20-horse power beam engine, driving three pains of 4 feet stones, smuttes, separator, two large sills-dressens, three siones, smuttes, separator, two large sills-dressens, three clievators, and lift, da.—all of the meet approved construction—which intending purcuasers are invited to impact.

The Board would call attention to the fact, that this is the OMLY GRIST MILL NOW AT WORK BR THE TOWN, and that there is NO PEOBABLITY OF ANY BIVAL as long as the character it has acquised in the company's hands is maintained.

The mill has repeatedly ground 1000 bushels per week, within hours; and being now in thorough working order is capable of turning out the same quantity—or more, with extre time.

The insuperable difficulties which the directors have experienced in managing a concern in which the interests of so many shrabolders are involved, in the sole reason for offering this valuable property for sale.
